

An Oasis Awaits

Get in while you can! Chambers Bay Golf Course is one of the most prestigious courses on the West Coast. Test your skills on a true, links-style golf course while trying to avoid the numerous large bunkers. Located just south of Tacoma on the site of a former quarry, this course can push you to your wit's end — yet you will still be in awe of its beauty.

In June 2015, Chambers Bay will host the U.S. Open — a first for Washington State. Competitors come from around the world to play in this tournament, with 235,000 people estimated to attend throughout the week-long event.

Corporate hospitality packages are available for groups looking to have a spot in the midst of the action. Packages range from daily tables to group tents available for the entire week. The hospitality packages are selling quickly, so be sure to purchase one while you can. Visit www.msgpromotions.com to learn more.

Butch Blum Moves In!

Previously located one block northwest on 5th Avenue, Butch Blum has moved to a more open and fluid space at 6th and Union, and they couldn't be happier. "This space is like a breath of fresh air for us - there's tons of light, tons of good energy, and a lot of foot traffic." says Melissa Kessenich, Butch Blum Promotions Administrator. When asked about Butch Blum's new partnership with Union Square, she replies, "They've made the whole process go seamlessly... working with them has been really, really great." Upon walking through the front doors, one is greeted with a welcoming smile. Clothing is hung and stacked precisely, jewelry is showcased in a delicate manner, and accessories are displayed creatively and intentionally. Small, handwritten tags hang on specific pieces, describing why they are perfect for the upcoming season. Personal touches like these show the attention to detail that has made Butch Blum a staple of Seattle fashion for 40 years. The space boasts some of the most unique characteristics in the city, including a Made to Measure table for creating custom suits. "Clients sit down at the table and peruse spec sheets and fabrics and design their own clothes." explained Made to Measure Specialist

Kent Rogers. Another exciting aspect of the new space is an in-house tailoring room, where all of Butch Blum's custom tailoring is done by professional seamstresses. Spools of yarn hang on the wall and are aligned neatly on the workstation - it is obvious that they take pride in their work. Butch Blum takes quality craftsmanship and service to a new level. Stop in to see for yourself!
